

Take Action to Stop Funding for Nuclear Weapons!

Some in Congress are talking about privatizing Medicare because “we can’t afford it.” But Congress manages to find billions to spend on nuclear weapons every single year. Take action now to change those priorities.

Tell Congress to block wasteful spending on nuclear bombs and new bomb factories in 2012.

Even though we have fewer nuclear bombs in the US than we did at the height of the Cold War, we continue to spend more and more money on them every year. If we cut just a fraction of what we spend on these horrific weapons, we'd still have plenty left over to take care of our most vulnerable communities.

Current plans would spend $85 billion over the next 10 years to build new bomb plants and $100 billion to “modernize” existing nuclear arsenal. These projects don't make sense if we are working to rid the world of all nuclear weapons. And meanwhile, efforts to lock up loose bomb-grade material, and to dismantle the weapons we already have, are chronically underfunded. It is time to tell Congress it's time to fix our priorities.

What can you do?

- (1) Write a Letter to the Editor. Attend the Letter to the Editor Writing Party at the Tri-Valley CAREs office in Livermore this Thursday May 5th. We will have handouts with facts to help you express your feelings about nuclear weapons and funding. We will also help you place your letter in the newspapers of your choice
- (2) Write a letter to Congress. Use the sample letter below to email or write a letter to your congressman or senator today,
- (3) Donate to Tri-Valley CAREs. This will allow us to help us continue the opposition to these priorities in your name. To send us an online donation through Network for Good-

Sample Message to Congress

Representative/Senator _____:

I urge you to support a forward-looking federal budget that reflects America's commitment to eliminating the threat of nuclear weapons. While Congress is slashing important domestic programs, the proposal to increase nuclear weapons spending by almost 20% over 2010 levels to pay for new bomb factories and risky projects is unacceptable.

I strongly encourage you to:

- Stop funding projects that would increase the US capacity to produce new nuclear weapons. Planned new facilities at Los Alamos, NM (CMRR) and Oak Ridge, TN (UPF) are now projected to cost taxpayers many billions in the coming years.
- Stop funding the multi- billion Life Extension Program for the B61 gravity bomb.
- Suspend construction of the mixed-oxide (MOX) plutonium fuel fabrication plant and its risky processing activities.
- Move the funds to nonproliferation programs that track down and secure nuclear material around the world, and to clean up the toxic and radioactive wastes caused by nuclear development.
- Increase funds for dismantlement and require increased dismantlement rates for nuclear warheads.

As you consider the FY2012 federal budget, please direct funding away from nuclear weapons activities and bomb plants, and toward securing dangerous nuclear material, cleanup & irreversible dismantlement or retired nuclear weapons.

Please write to tell me what action you will take on this issue.

Sincerely,

Final Day to Comment on LLNL's Supplement Analysis to the Site-Wide Environmental Impact Statement

All comments must be submitted to LLNL by Friday May 13th on its 2011 Draft Supplement Analysis of the 2005 Final Site-wide Environmental Impact Statement (SWEIS) for Continued Operation of Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory. The Draft Supplement Analysis evaluates 19 new or modified projects at LLNL and their potential impacts on the environment, summarily concluded that the impacts will be insignificant and that no further analysis is needed under the National Environmental Policy Act. Thus, if approved, the Livermore Lab will move forward with these projects without additional environmental analysis until 2015, or later. However, a number of the projects have the potential to significantly impact the environment. Additionally, other programs were left out of the Supplement Analysis that also have the potential to significantly impact the environment. Thus, a full Supplemental EIS, or a new Site-wide EIS is needed to analyze these impacts. Click the following link to sign on to Tri-Valley CAREs' Comment-
